8. Discuss how you would approach and handle the following situations:

- There are two infants that need to be fed at the same time and another that is 30 minutes past a diaper change. This child's diaper is wet, not soiled. Who would you tend to first and why?

- There is an infant who has a soiled diaper that has gone through the child's clothing and needs to be changed and cleaned. At the same time, an 8 week old is crying to be fed. You are by yourself. How do you react and which do you tend to first and why?

- There is a child in the room that has become a biter! You hear a situation escalate and now a child has been bitten. How do you respond to both children and communicate to the parent/caregiver about the biter's behavior?

- You and another staff member are currently at ratio watching 2 ½ and 3 year olds. The group splits up, you take the 2 ½ year olds and your co-worker takes the 3 year olds. Another child arrives putting your group over ratio. What do you do?
